Anne McCallister, Certified Professional Organizer® and founder of Inside the Box Organizing, shows overwhelmed small business, self-employed and home office clients how to think inside the box. With an emphasis on fun and simplicity, she helps create more productive, organized and less stressful work environments.

After a successful career, which included administrative, human resources and event-management roles, Anne became a professional organizer and created Inside the Box in 2006. Since then, she's worked with a wide range of clients doing everything from setting up new offices to working side-by-side with business owners and training staff on time management and prioritization.

Anne is proud to be a longstanding member of the National Association of Professional Organizers (NAPO) a 3-term President of NAPO's Oregon Chapter, past leader of the NAPO Small Business Special Interest Group, and currently serves as Co-Chair of NAPO National's Education Committee.

An enthusiastic and upbeat speaker to community groups and business audiences, Anne's key topics include:

- The Basics of Getting Organized: Tips to Get You Started
- Time Management, There's Not Really an App for That
- Preparing for the Unexpected: A Little Planning Can Go a Long Way
